

Assembly Resolution A32-7: Harmonization of the regulations and programmes for dealing with assistance to victims of aviation accidents and their families

Having considered that, even though international air transport is the safest means of transportation, the total elimination of serious accidents cannot be guaranteed;

Whereas the actions of the State of Occurrence should address the most critical needs of persons affected by a civil aviation accident;

Whereas the policy of the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) should be to ensure that the mental, physical, and spiritual well-being of victims involved in civil aviation accidents and their families are considered and accommodated by ICAO and its Contracting States;

Whereas it is essential that ICAO and its Contracting States recognize the importance of timely notification of family members of victims involved in civil aviation accidents; the prompt recovery and accurate identification of victims; the return of the victims' personal effects; and the dissemination of accurate information to family members;

Recognizing the role of Governments of nationals, who are victims of civil aviation accidents, in notifying and assisting families of the victims;

Whereas it is essential that support be provided to family members of victims of civil aviation accidents, wherever the accident may occur, and any lessons learned from support providers, including effective procedures and policies, be promptly disseminated to other Contracting States and ICAO to improve States' family support operations;

Considering that harmonization of the regulations for dealing with the needs of victims of civil aviation accidents and their families is also a humanitarian duty and an optional function of the ICAO Council contemplated in Article 55 (c) of the Chicago Convention;

Considering that States should provide a homogeneous solution for treatment of victims of civil aviation accidents and their families;

Recognizing that the air carrier involved in a civil aviation accident is often best situated to assist families in the immediate aftermath of the accident;

Noting that family members of victims of a civil aviation accident, irrespective of where the accident occurs or the national origin of the victims, express certain fundamental human needs and emotions; and

Recognizing that public attention will continue to focus on States' investigative actions, as well as the human interest aspects of a civil aviation accident;

The Assembly:

Calls on Contracting States to reaffirm their commitment to support victims of civil aviation accidents and their family members;

Urges Contracting States, in co-operation with ICAO and other States, to promptly review, develop, and implement regulations and programmes to support victims of civil aviation accidents and their family members;

Urges States that have regulations and programmes for dealing with the affairs of civil aviation accident victims and their families to make them available to ICAO for possible assistance to other States;

Urges the Council to develop material which could include Standards and Recommended Practices, citing the need for the establishment of regulations and programmes by Contracting States and their air carriers to support victims of civil aviation accidents and their family members; and Requests that the Council report on the progress achieved to the next session of the Assembly.

— — — — —