Step 3: Once you click on the Meetings & Events page as shown in the above screenshot, you will be redirected to the ICAO Meetings and Events page as shown below.

Step 4: Click on the Event you wish to register for. For example, if you are interested in attending the event called Block Upgrade Demonstration Showcase and Symposium. Click on the event to go to the event website.
Step 5: Clicking on the event will take you to the event website.

Step 6: You can either click on REGISTER NOW (highlighted in orange) or CLICK HERE TO REGISTER! (highlighted in purple) to go to the online registration. Upon clicking either of the two buttons highlighted above, you will be re-directed to the online registration page. Here you will find the event details, including the date, time and the venue of the event.

Now, let’s click on REGISTER FOR THE EVENT button highlighted in orange in the screenshot below.
Step 7: The above action will take the user to the Login page of the new event registration system. This page demonstrates the new system and its functionalities, as listed on the top banner, where it stores the personal information of the user and at the same time, reduces the time required to register for a next event.

The following are the components of the new event registration system:

a. Login Box – This box is for those users who have registered before on the new ICAO Event registration system and are not a first time user. Just like any other login section on a normal website, the user must enter their USERNAME (an active email account) and PASSWORD.

b. Forgot your password? – This link is used to generate a temporary password if the user forgot their previous one.

c. Create Account Box - If you are registering for the first time, you will click on CREATE ACCOUNT. Clicking here will take the user to the new profile creation page, while simultaneously registering for the event.

This form will allow the user to enter their personal information such as name, picture, email, phone number, address, etc. The system then stores this information so that on their next visit, the user will just have to register for the event. In addition to personal information, the form includes general event information which is required to complete the registration process. These fields are category for registration or nominated by (in case of diplomatic events), role in the event, accompanied or not, and confirmation of Canadian status (for commissariat purposes).

Step 9: Once the user completes the registration form they will click on REGISTER NOW to complete their registration.
Step 10: Given the case that a participant is registering for a paid event, the price charged will vary depending on the options chosen by the user from the drop down menu under category (as shown in the figure below). Note: \textit{There is no specific role for paid events, so all people registering will fall under the “Participant” role in the events.} If the participant is eligible to participate free of charge to a paid event, a voucher code will be delivered to that person on behalf of the event organizing group. The participant must then enter the discount voucher code in the box as shown below (in green) and click VERIFY. If the voucher code is valid, the price for the participant will turn to 0 and they will be able to complete the registration by clicking on REGISTER NOW. NOTE: ICAO staff and Resident Delegations, must always select the category \textit{“ICAO STAFF AND RESIDENT DELEGATION”} to register free of charge for paid events, and as \textit{“ICAO SECRETARIAT”} for diplomatic events.

Step 11: If the participant is not eligible for a free of charge entry, then he/she must proceed to select the appropriate category which will then indicate the price. The user will click on \textit{REGISTER AND PAY NOW} to go to the Payment page to complete their registration and payment for that event.
Step 12: Clicking on REGISTER AND PAY NOW. This will take the user to the payment page. The payment page displays the amount charged to the participant and the credit cards that are accepted by the system. The user will input their credit card information and should carefully read the ICAO Cancellation policy with respect to payments, before clicking on REGISTER AND PAY NOW.

Step 13: It is mandatory to check the “I have read ICAO’s Cancellation Policy” box before clicking on REGISTER AND PAY NOW. By preceding with this last step, the user will get a confirmation page of their registration. The user can save the event to their outlook calendar and/or go back to the ICAO meetings and events page to register for other events.

This completes your online registration for the event

Post Registration process: Upon a successful first time event registration and account creation through the new event registration system, a user will receive the following 2 emails:

i. Account creation email:
   a. This email confirms that you have created an ICAO Events account.
   b. It includes a link for the user to generate a temporary password which will be sent through an email to his/her inbox.’
   c. This new email will contain the users account information: Username(email), and Temporary password.
   d. The final step to complete the account creation is to login with the new account information and reset the users password to a password of their choice.
The user can use this password to log in at the login box of the ICAO Events website and register for another ICAO event when they get to the home page of ICAO events as shown in the below screenshot while registering for another event.
