LEGAL COMMITTEE – 35TH SESSION

(Montreal, 6 – 15 May 2013)

Agenda Item 2: Acts or offences of concern to the international aviation community and not covered by existing air law instruments

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

(Presented by the Secretariat)

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 On 3 June 1996, the Council decided during the sixth meeting of its 148th Session to include in the General Work Programme of the Legal Committee the subject “Acts or offences of concern to the international aviation community and not covered by existing air law instruments”. On 6 June 1997, the Council further decided during the sixth meeting of its 151 Session that a Secretariat Study Group should be established for this item. The group, designated as the Secretariat Study Group on Unruly Passengers, held several meetings. As a result of its work, the 33rd Session of the ICAO Assembly (25 September to 5 October 2001) adopted Resolution A33-4 “Adoption of National Legislation on Certain Offences Committed on Board Civil Aircraft (Unruly/disruptive Passengers)”, setting forth a model legislation was developed by the Group. Further, guidance material was developed by the Study Group on the legal aspects of unruly/disruptive passengers in the form of ICAO Circular 288.

1.2 In September 2009, the 34th Session of the Legal Committee expressed its support for the establishment of a study group to address the issue of unruly passengers. Accordingly, the Secretariat Study Group on Unruly Passengers was reactivated in early 2011 based on a decision of the Council at the sixth meeting of its 188th Session in October 2009.

2. WORK OF THE SECRETARIAT STUDY GROUP

2.1 The reactivated Secretariat Study Group held its first meeting in Montreal from 2 to 3 May 2011 and its second meeting in Paris from 3 to 4 October 2011. It identified a number of legal issues related to unruly passengers which needed to be addressed, including a review of the jurisdictional clauses under the Convention on Offences and Certain Other Acts Committed on Board Aircraft (Tokyo Convention, 1963) in order to align them with modern practice; the establishment of common standards and practices with regard to offences; the strengthening of international cooperation in harmonizing enforcement procedures; the powers of the aircraft commander and related immunity, and the status of In-Flight Security Officers (IFSOs). The Study Group reached the conclusion that the issue of unruly passengers needed to be addressed by the international community, that ICAO was the proper forum for this purpose, and that the Tokyo Convention should be reviewed and the feasibility of its amendment examined, with particular reference to the issue of unruly passengers. To that end, the Group recommended that a sub-committee of the Legal Committee be established and be tasked to prepare a draft text to modernize the Tokyo Convention.

3. WORK OF THE SPECIAL SUB-COMMITTEE OF THE LEGAL COMMITTEE

3.1 Based on the recommendation of the Study Group, the Council decided on 15 November 2011 during the 5th meeting of its 194th Session to request the Chairman of the Legal Committee to establish a Special Sub-Committee of the Legal Committee to review the Tokyo Convention, with particular reference to the issue of unruly passengers. On 20 December 2011, the Acting Chairman of the Legal Committee, Mr. M. Jennison (the United States) established a Special Sub-Committee and appointed Mr. A. Piera (the United Arab Emirates) as the Rapporteur. The Sub-Committee, chaired by Ms S. H. Tan (Singapore), held two meetings in 2012.

3.2 At its first meeting from 22 to 25 May, 2012, based on the report of the Rapporteur, the Sub-Committee focused its discussions on jurisdiction, a list of offences, extradition, immunity of the aircraft commander, IFSOs and the extent of the modernization of the Tokyo Convention. In general, many delegations indicated that more time was needed to collect information and data, to undertake consultation within their own States and with outside parties, and to further study the issues.

3.3 At its second meeting from 3 to 7 December, 2012, the Sub-Committee continued its consideration on the issues identified as its first meeting. With respect to the issue relating to jurisdiction, the Sub-Committee had previously expressed the sentiment that the inclusion and exercise of the State of the Operator and State of Landing jurisdictions will assist to curb the increasing trend of unruly behaviour on board aircraft. There was general agreement in the Sub-Committee that the establishment of such jurisdictions is desirable. Other bases of jurisdiction were also considered. What remains to be determined is whether such jurisdictions would be mandatory or optional. These two possibilities have been retained by the Sub-Committee for further consideration by the Legal Committee.

3.4 With respect to the list of offences, the Sub-Committee agreed not to include such a list in the draft instrument, but its majority proposed a new Article 15 bis in the Tokyo Convention to include two types of acts. These are the act of assault against a crew member and the act of refusal to follow a lawful instruction given by or on behalf of the aircraft commander. The provisions still remain in square brackets for further consideration.

3.5 The Sub-Committee concluded that there was no need to change the wording in Article 6 or 10 of the Tokyo Convention with regard to the immunity of the aircraft commander. With respect to the issue of extradition, the Sub-Committee believed that there was no need to include additional provisions in the Tokyo Convention.

3.6 With respect to the status of the IFSOs, the Sub-Committee noted that IFSOs did not exist when the Tokyo Convention was adopted, but today they are being increasingly deployed on international flights. Further work was considered necessary in order to build consensus with respect to the role of the IFSOs and their corresponding immunities within the framework of the Tokyo Convention.

3.7 In addition, the Sub-Committee also discussed other issues, such as the possible financial claims by airlines against unruly passengers, particularly in cases of diversion of aircraft; and definitions of certain terms, such as aircraft “in flight”.
3.8 The Sub-Committee considered the possible forms for amending the Tokyo Convention. If a decision is eventually made to amend the Tokyo Convention, it is the recommendation of the Sub-Committee that such amendments be effected through a supplementary protocol instead of a new and stand-alone convention. To facilitate the future work, the Sub-Committee has prepared “Main Operative Clauses for the Draft Protocol to Amend the Tokyo Convention”, which is reproduced as the Appendix to this working paper.

3.9 The Sub-Committee concluded that the current work should be referred to the Legal Committee for further consideration. Although the basic framework of the text of the draft protocol has been prepared by the Sub-Committee, it was evident that not all of the issues could be resolved at that level, which is why the draft protocol contains options and square brackets. Certain policy matters could only be decided at the level of the Legal Committee or even that of a diplomatic conference. Accordingly, the Sub-Committee unanimously recommends to the Council to convene the 35th Session of the Legal Committee to further review the Tokyo Convention, with particular reference to the issue of unruly passengers.

3.10 The reports of the two meetings of the Sub-Committee may be found at the ICAO website: http://www.icao.int/secretariat/legal/LC-SC-MOT2/Pages/default.aspx.

4. DECISIONS OF THE COUNCIL

4.1 On 20 February 2013, the Council decided at the second meeting of its 198th Session to convene the 35th Session of the Legal Committee from 6 to 15 May 2013 and directed that the meeting be held as a special session.

5. ACTION BY THE LEGAL COMMITTEE

5.1 The Legal Committee is invited to

1) note this working paper, and

2) review the draft text set out in the Appendix.
