

The future starts here

Bringing together major decision makers, the first-ever Symposium on Innovation in Aviation Security has been designed to help States, industry, academic researchers and other AVSEC professionals explore how technology, tools and equipment can help States and industry meet both existing and future aviation security challenges.

Confirmed Speakers & Topics

Dr. Diana Hardmeier, Director, Center for Adaptive Security Research and Applications (CASRA): Opening Plenary

Dr. Matthew James, Passenger Screening Research programme manager, Department for Transport, UK / Chairman, ECAC Technical Task Force: From blanket restrictions on Liquids, Aerosol and Gels (LAGs) to implementation of Liquid Explosives Detection Systems (LEDS) – benefits, limitations and challenges

Patricia Hayes, Director of Aviation, UK Department for Transport: Opening Plenary

Nina Brooks, Director, Borders and Security, interVISTAS: Airport – facilitating the flow

Eric Bergeron, P.Eng., M. Sc., President and CEO, Optosecurity: Detection systems and processes (passenger/bag/cargo) – The Tools of Tomorrow

Mr. Nikolay Zakhryapin, Deputy Minister of Transport of the Russian Federation: Opening Plenary

If you would like to take advantage of this invaluable networking and learning opportunity and help set the course for the newest security and facilitation solutions, please visit www.icao.int/meetings or contact ICAO's SIAS2014 team at: SIAS2014@icao.int

ICAO

SECURITY & FACILITATION