Aerlines magazine is a free and non profit internet journal on air transport matters, with a broad target readership of both academic and business backgrounds. Among our readers are students, researchers and business professionals. The board, editors and contributors participate on a voluntary basis.

The magazine is published four times per year and distributed electronically to all subscribers. Articles published in Aerlines report rather on implications of research conducted instead of the research process itself. Popular topics include Airline & Airport Economics; Aviation Policymaking; Air Law; Aeropolitical Matters; Air Cargo; & Air Safety. Aerlines magazine also publishes books and essay bundles on these topics.

The Air Transport Research Society (ATRS) was launched as a special interest group of the World Conference on Transport Research Society (WCTR) during the 7th Triennial WCTR Conference at Sydney in 1995. The objectives of the society are as follows:

- *To help organize and expand the air transport related sessions at the WCTR Conferences; to attract more people from airlines, airports, governments, research institutes and academia to the WCTR Society and its activities;

- *To exchange research ideas and results via more frequent symposia, conferences or regional meetings than the WCTR Conference can provide via its main conferences every three years;

- *To enhance research capability for truly multi national and multi disciplinary issues on air transportation. For example, good research on the globalization of airline industry requires expertise in various disciplines (economics, engineering, law, management, operations, planning and others) as well as good knowledge of the international, regional, and national institutions and regulations related to air transportation;

- *To interact with various international and national institutions which deal with policy and/or infrastructure issues concerning international aviation. Examples include the International Air Transport Association, the International Civil Aviation Organization, the World Trade Organization, the European Commission, the Pacific Economic Cooperation Council, etc.

- *To eventually provide forums to facilitate the exchange of ideas for forming multi national and/ or multi disciplinary research teams to investigate topics of world wide or continental interest
