International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO)

Shane Sumner was deployed to the Pacific Region in October 2023 in the newly established ICAO role of Liaison Officer, providing direct support to the 13 ICAO member Pacific Small Island Developing States. Prior to this deployment he was, for more than eleven years, Regional Officer Air Traffic Management/Aeronautical Information Management in the ICAO Asia/Pacific Regional Office in Bangkok, supporting and advising States in the implementation of ICAO Standards and Recommended Practices and regional plans in the fields of Air Traffic Management Aeronautical Information Services, Search and Rescue, Airspace Safety Monitoring, and Uncrewed Aircraft Systems. He was Secretary of, and technical contributor to, a wide range of associated regional technical bodies, and drafted, coordinated, and published related regional plans and guidance material. Before joining ICAO in 2012 Mr. Sumner served for more than 30 years in Air Navigation Service Provider roles, primarily as a licensed Air Traffic Controller, ATC instructor, ATC supervisor and ATM systems management specialist. As a qualified ATC instructor, he developed and delivered classroom and simulator training for ATC candidates, as well as on-the-job training in live ATC operations.

Theresa O'Boyle-Levestam
Chief Executive
Civil Aviation Authority of Fiji (CAAF)

Theresa O'Boyle-Levestam is a trailblazer in Pacific aviation, with over 32 years of experience in the industry. She began her career in 1991 as an Air Traffic Control Assistant and went on to become Fiji's first female licensed Air Traffic Controller in 1996. Her expertise spans Aerodrome, Approach, and Area/Oceanic Control, and she has held various leadership roles in Air Traffic Management, regulatory oversight, and aviation safety. In August 2023, after three years acting in the role, Theresa was appointed as the first female Chief Executive of the Civil Aviation Authority of Fiji (CAAF), marking a significant milestone for the organisation. She holds an MBA in General Management and has undertaken extensive technical and regulatory training in Fiji and abroad.

A respected professional in the aviation sector, Theresa represents CAAF on numerous international, regional, and national civil aviation committees, contributing to efforts that enhance aviation safety and regulatory excellence in Fiji and the Pacific.
