Sir/Madam,

I am pleased to inform you regarding the upcoming regional aviation training event in the Asia-Pacific Region. International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) is organizing the ICAO Asia Pacific Regional Aviation Training Symposium 2025 from 16 to 17 July 2025. The Symposium will be hosted by the Civil Aviation Authority of Singapore at the Suntec City Convention Centre, Singapore. Please refer to the attached State Letter ref. AN21.2 – IND/25/1 dated 16 January 2025 for further information.

The Symposium brings together civil aviation authorities, aviation training organizations, academic institutions, institutes of higher learning and industry partners in the APAC region, to foster collaboration in human resource development and aviation training through networking and the sharing of best practices. It seeks to better support ICAO Member States in building a future ready aviation workforce which is critical for seizing opportunities and meeting the strong demand for air travel in the region.

The Symposium will discuss emerging trends and tools in aviation training and methods in enhancing the effectiveness of training in the post-COVID aviation landscape, as well as efforts to support ICAO's Next Generation of Aviation Professionals (NGAP) programme. It will also highlight various training opportunities, particularly within the ICAO TRAINAIR PLUS Programme (TPP) network and regional institutes, aimed at strengthening the aviation workforce across the APAC region.

Please note that the Symposium welcomes the participation of all relevant entities, including but not limited to civil aviation authorities, international and regional organizations, TRAINAIR PLUS Programme (TPP) Members and Partners, representatives from human resources departments, training organizations, academic institutions, and other interested parties related to aviation
