1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Based on the Terms of Reference of the Communication, Navigation and Surveillance Sub-Group (CNS SG), the election of Chairpersons is essential to ensure the effective and coordinated management of the Sub-Group's activities. The Chairperson, in close cooperation with the Secretary, is responsible for facilitating efficient working arrangements, maintaining continuous communication with members, and ensuring that the Sub-Group's objectives, such as harmonization of CNS systems, monitoring of implementation progress, and provision of expert guidance, are achieved in line with the MID Region Air Navigation Strategy, the ASBU framework, and the Global Air Navigation Plan (GANP).

1.2 Furthermore, the Chairpersons play a key role in steering discussions, setting priorities, and guiding the development of regional action plans to address CNS-related challenges and deficiencies. Their leadership ensures that the Sub-Group maintains alignment with MIDANPIRG's performance objectives, fosters collaboration among States and stakeholders, and promotes harmonized regional implementation of CNS systems. The formal election of Chairpersons during the meeting is therefore necessary to ensure continuity, accountability, and the effective execution of the CNS SG work programme in accordance with its Terms of Reference
