Safety Recommendation

The Australian Transport Safety Bureau recommends that the International Civil Aviation Organization develop standards for States of Registry to ensure that there are appropriate performance measures for continuing airworthiness standards, that take into consideration:

- the process defined in the standard

- a defined outcome that the standard is intended to achieve.