

Carlos Cirilo is the International Air Transport Association (IATA) Assistant Director, Infrastructure Strategy, headquartered in Montreal. His primary responsibilities are formulating IATA's technical and policy documents on Communications, Navigation, and Surveillance (CNS) / Air Traffic Management (ATM) Infrastructure. Mr. Carlos Cirilo has over twenty years of achievement in managing and developing operational and technical projects in telecommunications and deployment of satellite-based technology. Mr. Cirilo is currently the chairman of the ICAO civil/military informal group.