Recognizing challenges facing African States, inter alia, that:

a) while the African aviation market has the most potential for growth out of all global regions with a large and increasing population, this potential has not yet been fully translated into strong and uniform air traffic growth within the continent;

b) despite the synergies, there are inconsistencies between tourism and aviation policies due to the difficulties of States in balancing the interests of their air transport industry and the optimum development of their tourism and travel industry;

c) the development of tourism and air transport in Africa is hampered by negative perceptions and misconceptions of Africa, which are deleterious to the African States’ ability to attract tourists and its overall potential as a tourism region, and changing such negative perceptions involves a long process;

d) some African States, especially Least Developing Countries (LDCs), Landlocked Developing Countries (LLDCs) and Small Island Developing States (SIDS), are too small or remote to achieve structural transformation for economic development;

e) the uncertainty about continuation of air services has an adverse effect on a tourism and travel industry’s inward investment and the opportunity for inbound tourism, and thus the actual loss of a service could have a much greater cost;
f) a well balanced mix of domestic, intraregional and international tourism is important to ensure that tourism development is resilient towards negative events, whether man-made or natural disasters;

g) it remains difficult for African States and aviation and tourism stakeholders to access funds and/or ensure financing for the modernization and expansion of their infrastructure;

h) skills shortages are posing a considerable short-term obstacle to growth, with a lack of adequate aviation, tourism and travel professionals; and

i) while significant visa facilitation improvements took place over the past decade, visa facilitation still needs to be a priority area for African countries by improving visa policies for citizens of the continent and to the world;

Declare the following in the framework of the Declaration and the Plan of Action 2017 – 2019 on Air Transport, PIDA and Tourism adopted at the First Ordinary Session of the AU STC-TTIET:

Reaffirm the need to:

a) support the realization of the AU Agenda 2063 and the UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, especially its SDGs 8 and 9, in line with the AU–UN Framework for the Implementation;

b) mainstream and reflect the priorities of the tourism and aviation sectors in States’ economic development planning so that tourism and aviation can be used as an effective economic development driver;

c) establish good governance, i.e. the institutional, legal and regulatory frameworks in which air transport and tourism are designed, implemented and managed;

d) build a strong “Brand Africa” in an increasingly competitive marketplace and a constantly changing business environment to unlock the natural and cultural tourism potential and generate sufficient air traffic demand;

e) further liberalize intra-Africa and intercontinental air transport services especially through the implementation of the Yamoussoukro Decision and SAATM;

f) enable exploration of innovative funding and financing systems to develop quality aviation and tourism infrastructure;

g) enhance and ensure the availability of human capacity with the appropriate technical skills in the tourism and aviation sectors;

h) maximize the efficiency of border clearance formalities while strengthening aviation safety, security and the resilience of tourism development; and

i) accelerate the regional integration and facilitate the movement of people by air and goods in the African continent;
Urge African States in cooperation and coordination with the AUC, African Regional Economic Communities (RECs), the AFCAC, the NPCA, the AfDB, private sector, international partners and other stakeholders to:

a) promote cooperation and compatible decision-making among transport authorities, tourism authorities and other ministries in charge of related portfolios, including finance, economic planning, energy, environment, and trade;

b) consolidate planning and development efforts for aviation, tourism and trade infrastructure, whenever possible, while harmonizing regulatory frameworks and balancing the benefits of these economic sectors;

c) pursue a destination management strategy based on a “smart product mix”, i.e. the establishment of a good integration between tourism and travel, aviation and other service and commodity sectors, to break a vicious circle of economic and logistical disadvantages and enhance structural transformation;

d) institutionalize SAATM at the State level by developing necessary domestic legal and regulatory framework to fully implement it;

e) align and integrate major aviation and tourism infrastructure projects with national and/or regional development plans and budgets, the PIDA Priority Action Plan (PAP) for 2020 – 2030, the AU infrastructure development agenda, as well as forging-African economic cooperation and international assistance platforms such as the Tokyo International Conference on African Development (TICAD) and the Forum on China–Africa Cooperation (FOCAC);

f) include and prioritize capacity building projects for trade within the framework of the MoveAfrica initiative launched by the NPCA and using and contributing to the HRDF;

g) adopt the visa openness solutions as part of a policy reforms for free movement of people across Africa, through the ICAO Traveller Identification Programme (TRIP) Strategy and the maximum use of information and communication technologies in improving visa procedures; and

h) harmonize domestic laws, policies and procedures to accommodate the issue and use of African Passport;

Encourage African States to:

a) take pragmatic measures to build a transparent, stable and predictable investment climate to support quality infrastructure development related to aviation and tourism, for example, by engaging multi-stakeholders, diversifying funding sources, using domestic funds and increasing the participation of the private sector, including through private investment, business reform, private finance initiatives, public-private partnerships and various incentive schemes;

b) provide necessary incentives, environment and support for the private sector for its effective participation in African tourism and aviation development;
c) assure certain air services of a public service nature, such as lifeline provision for remote and peripheral destinations, and provide support for the development of international routes linking tourism source markets with LDCs, LLDCs and SIDS using the “essential air service and essential tourism development route” concept developed by ICAO and UNWTO;

d) share and exchange knowledge, experience and best practices with appropriate data and statistics, including among themselves (South-South cooperation) in order to benefit from regional experiences;

e) demonstrate and promote the socio-economic benefits of tourism and aviation, and foster an informed and engaged public as a crucial partner through public awareness campaigns and education programmes to raise business confidence and obtain buy-in from the wider audiences;

f) draw up a marketing and promotion strategy to support the tourism product developments in conjunction with air transport services, and highlight what Africa can give to the world which the rest of the world does not have; and

g) promote better air connectivity for more efficient use of resources with the aim of contributing to the attainment of the SDGs and beyond.

Call on ICAO, the UNWTO, the AUC, the African RECs, the AFCAC, the NPCA the AfDB, international assistance partners, donor communities, as well as financial institutions, consistent with their respective mandates, to provide technical expertise, resources and support for the implementation of the above actions;

We hereby extend our sincere gratitude to our host, Cabo Verde, for its warm hospitality and support for the organization of this first ICAO/UNWTO Ministerial Conference for Tourism and Air Transport in Africa, as well as for its contribution to advancing the agenda of tourism and air transport for development in Africa.

Done and adopted in Santa Maria, Sal Island, Cabo Verde on this 29th day of March 2019.
