

Joseph Kwok	Mr. Joseph Kwok joined Singapore Airlines as a Safety and Emergency Procedures (SEP) Instructor in 1995. In 1999, he headed the project team that completed and implemented the computer-based training for aircraft-type SEP training. He was promoted to the Admin Grade in 2001, and is responsible for the standards for the initial and recurrent training programs. Joseph also initiated the universal survival training in Singapore Airlines.
Asst Manager Safety Training SIA Training Centre Flt Crew Training STC-3C 720 Upper Changi Road East, Singapore 486852 Email :Joseph_Kwok@Singaporeair.com.sg	That took him to Florida to attend the open water survival course organised by the Southern California Safety Institute, and then the first arctic survival course conducted by Finnair, way up in Lapland. He organised the open water and universal survival training for the instructors, and universal survival has been a module in the initial SEP training program for pilots and cabin crew since 2003. On the personal side, he is a fitness buff, and has completed a number of full and half marathons and short triathlons.