

Andrea WÄCHTERSHÄUSER

Director, Airport Infrastructure & Regulatory Affairs, IATA

Andrea Wächtershäuser is Director for Airport Infrastructure & Regulatory Affairs working in IATA's Airport, Passenger, Security and Cargo division based in Geneva. On behalf of the member airlines she engages with airports, governments and key industry stakeholders on improved collaboration in the areas of effective capacity development, operational improvements and best practice implementation in economic regulation to ensure user charges are set at a reasonable level.

Andrea joined the aviation industry 15 years ago working in different areas across the aviation supply chain. She started her career at Frankfurt International Airport focused on strategic development and design of passenger processes and terminal operations and continued in Accenture's aviation consulting unit on various projects for Airline's Cargo and Passenger operations, Aviation MRO and Airport Operations.