Discovering Madrid, the City Guide

Art & Culture

Madrid is one of the most culturally rich capitals in the world, from its famous art galleries and museums, to its historic buildings, music and theatres.

The masterpieces of some of the world's most respected artists, including Goya, Velázquez and Picasso are housed in the city's world famous "big three" art museums: Museo del Prado, Museo Thyssen-Bornemisza and Museo Reina Sofía, the Golden Triangle of Art, as they are called.

THE GOLDEN TRIANGLE OF ART

The Prado Museum is one of the largest museums in the world, together with the Louvre Museum in Paris. It includes artists such as Goya, Velázquez, El Greco, Tiziano, Tintoretto, El Greco, Rubens and many more. Don't miss the building enlargement designed by Rafael Moneo.

Free entry: 6.00 pm – 8.00 pm, except Sundays, 5.00 pm-7.00pm. Metro Station: Banco de España.

A short walk ride away is the Reina Sofía Museum of Arts, where you can find spanish contemporary artists such as Dalí, Miró and Picasso. Picasso's masterpiece, "The Guernica", is the most important painting of the museum.

Free entry: 7.00 pm - 9.00 pm, except Sundays: 1.30 pm - 7.00 pm.

Next to “The Prado” is the Thyssen-Bornemisza Museum, the largest collection of private art in the world with pieces from the 17th to the 20th century from artists such as Caravaggio, Van Gogh, Cézanne, Degas, Monet, Mondrian, Kandinsky and many more...Take a look to the modern restaurants and terraces inside the museum, where you can make a break!

OTHER CULTURAL “MUSTS”

In addition to these three museums, Madrid is a city with many smaller museums and art galleries which house treasures from all over Spain, as well as historic buildings, churches, palaces and monuments. We strongly recommend the following ones:

The Sorolla Museum, which was originally the artist's residence, houses Joaquín Sorolla's greatest works. The small venue creates an intimate exhibition space that connects guests to the artist's works. <http://museosorolla.mcu.es/>

Free entry: Saturdays, 2.00pm – 8.00pm and Sundays. Metro Station: Gregorio Marañón, Iglesia.

The recently remodeled National Archaeological Museum offers a journey through history and shows the diversity of peoples and cultures in Spain from prehistory to the 19th century. www.man.es/man/home.html

Free entry: Saturdays, 2.00pm – 8.00pm and Sundays. Metro Station: Colon.

The Lazaro Galdiano Museum preserves more than 12,000 representative works of art, sculptures and decorative arts of artists such as Leonardo Da Vinci, Diego Velázquez, El Greco, El Bosco, Murillo, Francisco de Zurbarán, Federico de Madrazo and a very long etcetera. <http://www.flg.es/>

Free entry: Saturdays, 2.00pm – 8.00pm and Sundays. Metro Station: Gregorio Marañón.

The Museum of the Americas (Museo de América), with its impressive collection of over 25,000 artefacts (most of them from South and Central America) offers the chance to follow the footprints of the American cultures and to discover their singular way of facing up to the universal challenges of humanity. www.mecd.gob.es/museodeamerica

Metro Station: Moncloa.

Caixa Forum Museum is Madrid's latest cultural hot spot, where the building is as much of an attraction as the content found in the interior, with its exuberant vertical garden designed by Patrick Blanc.

Metro Station: Atocha

The Royal Palace, historical residence of the Kings of Spain, is currently used for state ceremonies. It is opened to the public, who can wander through many of the rooms and banqueting halls. It houses sumptuous decorations, tapestries and paintings.

Metro Station: Opera

The Royal Theatre (Teatro Real), major opera house in Spain opened in 1850, is located between two squares, Plaza de Isabel II (“Opera’s square”) and Plaza de Oriente, in front of the Royal Palace. It is considered one of the greatest theaters in Europe and its seasons involve leading international figures.

Metro Station: Opera

The “Plaza Mayor”, built in the 17th Century, is considered the historical centre of Madrid and one of the most beautiful squares in the city. Colourful and lively, it is busy with foot traffic all year-round, especially over Christmas. There's a tourist office and numerous restaurants with outdoor seating, perfect for people-watching.

Metro Station: Sol.

The Retiro Park is an oasis of peace in the middle of the city where you can admire sculptures, monuments and a boating lake. It also presents an annual book fair in May. The park, located near the Prado Museum is an ideal place to enjoy the street performers’ improvised shows and concerts. Close to The Retiro Park you will find the Royal Botanical Garden of Madrid, with more than 5,000 different species.

<http://www.rjb.csic.es/jardinbotanico/jardin/>

Metro Station: Retiro, Ibiza, Atocha.

The recently opened space “Madrid Río” is an 820 hectares park located along the Manzanares River. It includes an urban beach, rowing lanes on the river, walks, bicycle paths, terraces, cultural and sports facilities and areas for pensioners and children. 11 footbridges have been built, allowing better access to both sides of the river. A green corridor of pine trees provides pleasantly shaded walks.

Metro Station: Príncipe Pío, Pirámides, Legázpi

The skyscrapers at AZCA Commercial District (where AESA headquarters are located) are a representative sample of modern architecture in Spain. A short walk ride away you can find the Kio Towers, one of the most famous elements of the skyline in Madrid. Next to them, the Four Towers are the largest skyscrapers in the city. They mainly host offices, but a luxury 5-star hotel, as well.

Metro Station: Plaza de Castilla, Santiago Bernabeu.

If your passion is football, Real Madrid Stadium, just in front of AESA Headquarters, is a must. There are organized visits to the stadium, changing room, presidential box and trophy exhibition.

Evening & Nightlife

Madrid is one of the most joyful and lively cities all around the world, daytime and night time.

Watch spectacular flamenco shows and visit Plaza de Santa Ana terraces and bars at Huertas District (Sevilla station). Check the alternative Chueca and Malasaña districts (Tribunal station) with their artistic communities. Wander through Gran Vía Street and watch the variety of races and cultures. Try the wide range of entertainment that Madrid offers: bars, discos, restaurants, musicals, theatre, concerts and many more.

FLAMENCO SHOWS:

Flamenco can be watched in many taverns in Madrid which are called "Tablaos". The centre of the city is plenty of this type of pubs where you can enjoy daily flamenco shows performed by really good "bailaoras". Most of them offer dinner-shows combining traditional gastronomy with performance.

Most famous tablaos in Madrid are: Corral de la Morería (Opera Station), Casa Patas (Antón Martín Station) and Café de Chinitas (Santo Domingo Station).

Gastronomic Delights

Madrid is a region with a great variety of dishes. Its central location and the fact that a high amount of people come originally from other regions of the country have influenced its cuisine.

TAPAS AND RACIONES:

In Madrid having drinks and "Tapas" (free pieces of food served with your drink) or "Raciones" (dishes that you can order for sharing) is the best option for spending time with friends and family. The typical moments for having tapas are at midday or mid-afternoon, when you can start with some drinks and tapas and combine it with raciones for a perfect, cheap and fulfilling dinner.

Don't forget to try this essential tasty raciones:

- Tortilla de patatas: Spanish omelette with potatoes. You may ask for the little version, "Pincho de tortilla", a smaller portion with some bread.
- Bocadillo de calamares, squid rolls. The most famous ones are in la Plaza Mayor.
- Patatas bravas, potatoes topped with spicy sauce.
- Sopa de Ajo: Garlic soup. It is a rich and oily soup which generally includes paprika, Spanish ham, fried bread and poached eggs.

The typical districts to eat Tapas and Raciones are Huertas (Literature Quarter) and La Latina. At evening and dinner time, La Latina is always crowd of people. On Cava Alta and Cava Baja streets you may find a lot of premium places, which offer original and good quality food.

Metro Station: La Latina, Sevilla.

Recently, a lot of old markets in Madrid have been remodelled and turned into gastronomical spaces, where you may taste delicatessen from all over Spain. San Miguel Market is one of them. Located in San Miguel Square next to the Plaza Mayor, you will find an incredibly variety of highest-quality food. The structure of the market was built in 1913 and consists in a beautiful combination of iron and glass.

Metro Station: Vodafone Sol, Opera.

Shopping

Madrid is a city where you will find mostly everything and for everyone. Madrid caters to different types of shoppers and a range of budgets with a diverse mix of big stores, little shops, boutiques, luxury firms, outlets, multi-store malls and open-air flea markets. In commercial districts like upscale Salamanca, trendy Chueca (Metro station: Chueca) and funky Triball/Malasaña (Metro station: Tribunal), window shopping and people watching are also part of the experience.

The excellent shopping district of "Preciados" (Metro station: Vodafone Sol, Callao) is full of big department stores, clothes and shoe shops, books and music shops, as well as jewelleries, opened 7 days a week.

If you are looking for something more 'chic', in Salamanca District (Goya, Serrano, Claudio Coello, Velázquez and Almirante Streets) is where you'll find designer stores (Metro station: Serrano, Nuñez de Balboa). In famous Ortega y Gasset Street, nicknamed "The Golden Mile", the international high couture brands have its madrilène space.

For a more alternative shopper, Fuencarral Street is the place to visit (Metro Station: Tribunal).

Madrid has some of the best markets too. The most famous one is 'El Rastro' which is held on Sunday mornings (Metro Station: Tirso de Molina). Although it is always very crowded, it's worth it. You'll need about 3 hours just to walk around it, but there are some stunning clothes and every other type of objects you may buy.

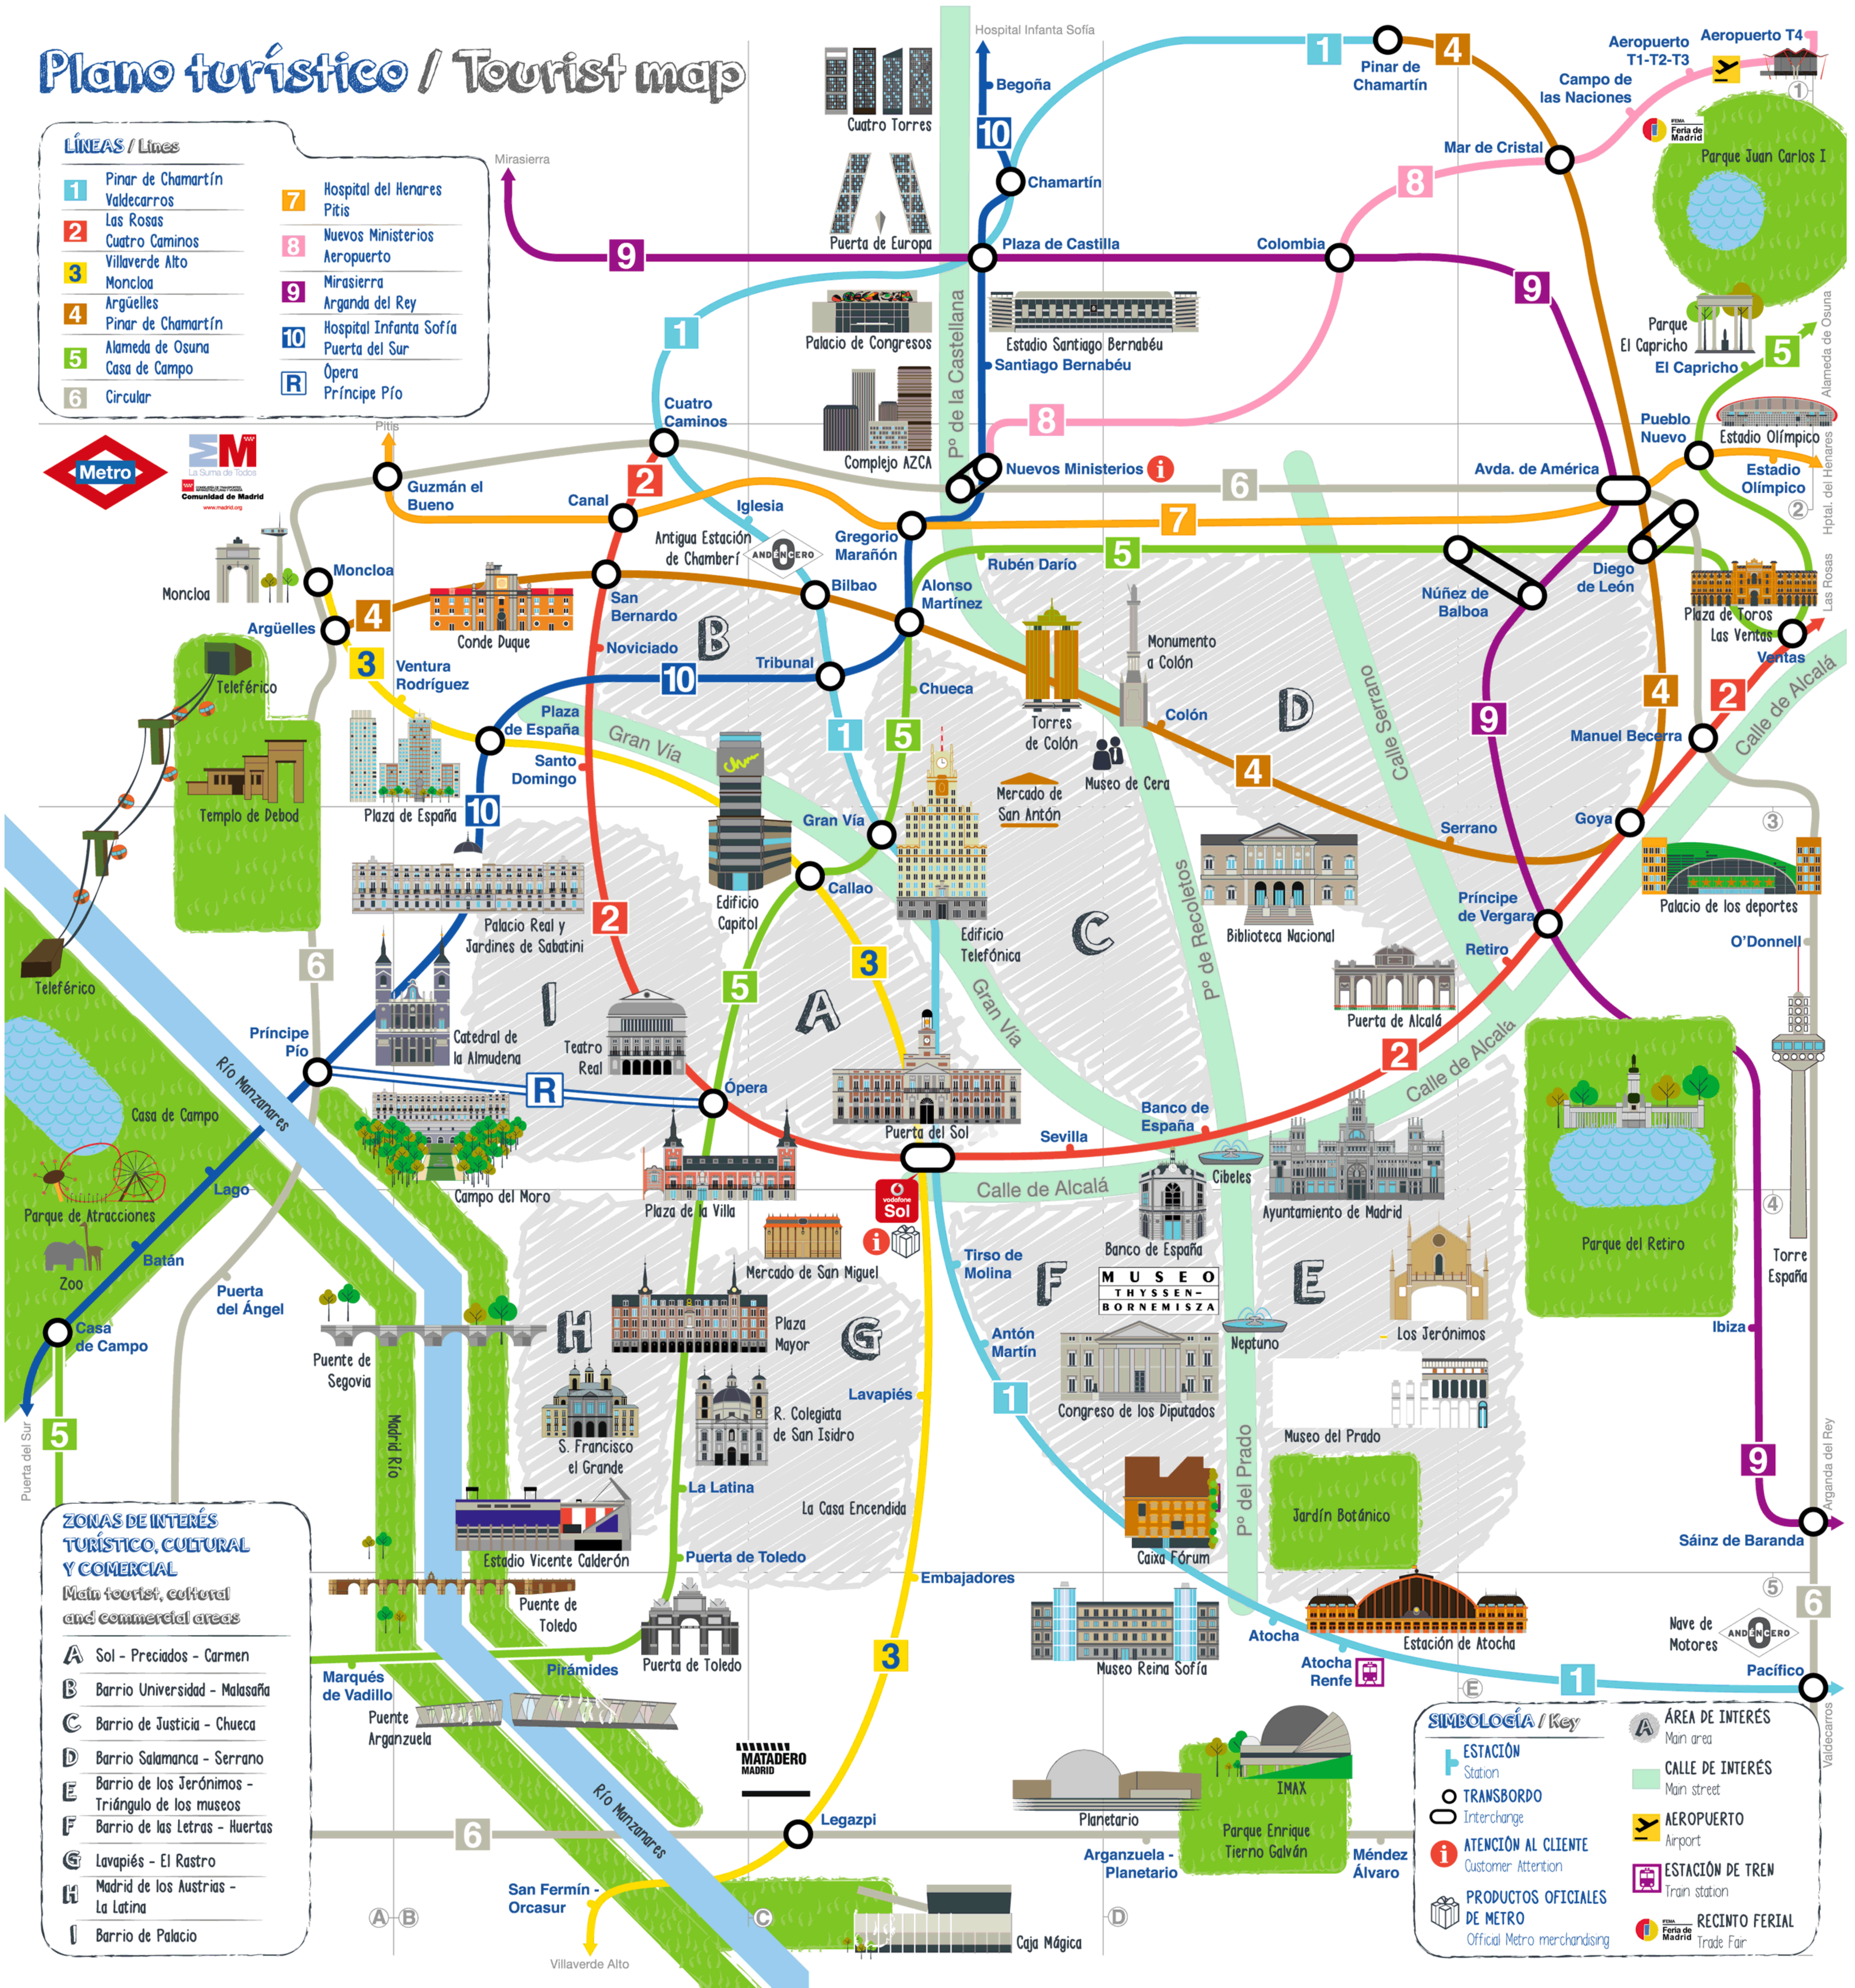

Maybe, after an exhausting journey through the Golden Triangle of Art, you prefer to go shopping at Barrio de las Letras ("Literature Quarter"). This district was residence of most famous writers of the Spanish Golden Century of Literature and it is fully pedestrian. You will find little shops with books, antiques and mid-20th Century furniture.

Currently, all Iberia and Air Nostrum flights arrive at Terminal 4 (or T4S), as well as those from One World Alliance. Terminals 1, 2 and 3 are home for SkyTeam and Star Alliances airlines.

Barajas Airport Terminals 1, 2, 3 are all contained within one huge complex. Terminal 4 and Terminal 4S (used usually for long-haul flights) are in separate new buildings, designed by Richard Rodgers and Antonio Lamela, which were opened in 2006.

These new terminals are meant to give passengers a stress-free start to their journey. This is managed through careful use of illumination, with glass panes instead of walls, and numerous domes in the roof which allow natural light to pass through.

MOVING THROUGH THE AIRPORT

The Automatic People Mover (APM) connects T4S, Satellite building, with Terminal 4 with a remote-controlled train which operates 24h per day. The journey takes 3 minutes.

In order to go from one terminal to another (T1 T2 T3 T4), passengers can use the SHUTTLE BUS, a free bus transport service between the airport terminals, 24 hours a day.

GETTING TO THE CITY

Barajas Airport is well connected to the centre of Madrid. There are several ways to get to and from the city:

TAXI:

Taxis in Madrid are white with a diagonal red band on their front door bearing the emblem of the city. All terminals have clear signed taxi ranks outside their arrivals area.

For journeys between the airport and inside the M-30 ringroad (including those journeys to Vincci Capitol, Vincci Soma and Vincci Soho official hotels of GLAD Madrid), a flat rate fare of 30€ will be charged. If arriving during mid-week times when rush hour traffic volume is low, it will take about half an hour to get to the centre of Madrid.

Journeys from the airport under 10 km, will be charged a minimum fare of 20€. Once the 10 kilometre mark has been passed (or the equivalent initial time), the taximeter will continue to calculate the corresponding fare.

METRO (SUBWAY):

Madrid subway is very modern, fast, clean and efficient. Both Terminal 2 and Terminal 4 have their own subway stations: “Aeropuerto T1-T2” and “Aeropuerto T4”, both included in Line 8 (pink), which connects to Nuevos Ministerios Station (centre of Madrid) in about 12-15 minutes.

A single one-way ticket to the centre of Madrid (including airport supplement) will cost 4.50-6€, depending on your final destination.
