Local hotel information

There are many hotels available near the Conference venue, so delegates have a good choice. Seven hotels were contacted (see the following pages for a list of these hotels); information about these hotels can be obtained via google.com or through other tour web links. Most of the hotels close to the Asia Hotel are in a convenient commercial area with restaurants, café, bars, shopping malls and banks around. Delegate are able to take advantage of very accessible transportation from those hotels to the conference venue, either by walking or 10 minutes by taxi for approximately 10-15RMB one-way.

A map with the hotel locations is included in the last page of this document.

The special rate

The seven hotels there were contacted offer special rates; however, availability at such special rates is at the discretion of the hotel. The delegate is therefore recommended to confirm the special rate with hotel when making the reservation. Since most hotels have a limited time for confirm for reservations with the special rate, delegates should make their reservation as soon as possible.

Reservation

★ email or fax

Delegates are kindly requested to make their own reservations. It is highly recommended to use email or fax to make reservations since some hotels experience technical difficulties with their online reservation systems and reservations are not always successfully processed.

★ Using Member/Corporate Code

In order to obtain the special rate at any of the seven hotels, delegates need to use the Member/Corporate Code "sland2010", and to inform the hotel that they are a participant of the Diplomatic Conference on Aviation Security.

★ Online reservation

For those hotels having an online reservation system, delegates can register via the web links in the following pages, using the Member Code and Password as indicated for each hotel.
